Regarding claims 1, Ginter discloses a content secondary distribution management system comprising: a plurality of user devices which manage secondary distribution in which a transaction of content usable by a user device is performed between the plurality of user devices (see at least Figure 77; col. 280, lines 59-65; col. 261, lines 10-48), wherein a first settlement log is issued from a first of the plurality of user devices to one of a service provider and a clearing center every time the content is distributed by the first user device to another user device (see at least col. 142, lines 10-15; col. 142, lines 35-40; col. 261, lines 10-34; col. 263, lines 5-10; col. 168, lines 26-27; col. 281, line 10- col. 282, line 5; col. 329, lines 11-45) and a second settlement log is issued from a second of the plurality of user devices to said to said first of the plurality of user devices and said of the plurality of user devices issues said second settlement log (see at least col. 142, lines 35-40; col. 296, lines 19-38; col. 141, line 57-col. 142, line 40; Figure 79; col. 329, lines 11-45) one of a service provider and a clearing center every time the content is distributed by the second user device (see at least col. 261, lines 10-34; col. 263, lines 5-10; col. 168, lines 26-27; col. 327, lines 30-39; col. 281, line 10- col. 282, line 5), and a settlement processing for the content is performed based on the first settlement log and the second settlement log under the management of said one of a service provider and a clearing center (see at least Figure 77; col. 281, line 10col. 282, line 5).

Regarding claim 2, Ginter discloses a content receiving user (end user) device for receiving the content deducts a content usage fee from an electronic money balance up to an allowable amount of money set in an issue log based on information of usage control policy of the content, the content receiving user device creates a usage log; the content providing user device creates a receive log and sends the receive log to the service provider and a clearing center; and the service provider and the clearing center performs the settlement processing for the electronic money for the use of the content based on the receive log, and requests and account management institution to perform transfer processing for the content usage fee; and the account management institution performs the transfer processing (see at least Figure 25A; col. 42, line 59 – col. 43, line 20; col. 281, lines 33-44).

Regarding claims 3-8 and 10-16, Ginter discloses:

- the usage control policy information includes indicating whether the secondary distribution of the content between the user devices is allowed, and wherein upon receiving the receive log created for a content in which the secondary distribution is not allowed, the service provider and the clearing center nullifies settlement processing to be performed for the receive log (see at least col. 279, lines 21-31;
  col. 281, lines 23-41);
- each user devices for performing the transaction of the content comprises an encryption processing unit, mutual authentication processing, and the user devices attach a digital signature and verify the digital signature (see at least col. 21, line 60 col. 22, line 25; col. 257, lines 33-36);

the user devices, service provider, and clearing center comprises an encryption processing unit, mutual authentication processing, attach a digital signature and verify the digital signature (see at least col. 21, line 60 – col. 22, line 25; col. 257, lines 33-36);

Regarding claims 9 and 17, Ginter discloses a method and a computer-readable medium having stored therein computer-executable instructions for managing secondary distribution in which a transaction of content usable a user device is performed between a plurality for user devices (see at least Figure 77; col. 280, lines 59-65; col. 261, lines 10-48), comprising: issuing a settlement log for the use of the content from a first of the plurality of user devices to one of a service provider and a clearing center every time the content is distributed by the first user device to another user device and said of the plurality of user devices issues said second settlement log (see at least col. 142, lines 10-15; col. 142, lines 35- 40; col. 296, lines 19-28; col. 141, line 57-col. 142, line 40; Figure 79; col. 329, lines 11-45); issuing said second settlement log for the use of the content from said first of the plurality of user devices to said service provider and a clearing center every time an identical content is distributed (see at least col. 261, lines 10-34; col. 263, lines 5-10; col. 168, lines 26-27; col. 281, line 10- col. 282, line 5; Figure 79; col. 379, lines 11-45); and performing settlement processing for the identical content based on the settlement log under the management of the service provider and a clearing center (see at least Figure 77; col. 281, line 10-col. 282, line 5).

Regarding claim 18, Ginter discloses a computer-readable medium further performing the step of; performing settlement processing for the content based on the first settlement log and the second settlement log (see at least Figure 77; col. 281, line 10- col. 282, line 5).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed October 18, 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant remarks that Ginter "fails to disclose sending an issue log to a service provider when a content is distributed by one user to another user device".

Furthermore, Applicant remarks that "Ginter does not account for transfers made between user devices".

The Examiner does not agree. Ginter discloses information may pass through a single chain of handling such as encrypted packets of audit information (col. 296, lines 19-26). The audit information contains administrative objects, which comprises events describing financial transactions between the creator of an administrative object, the recipient, such as a purchase order or an invoice (col. 142, lines 10-15; col. 142, lines 35-40). The administrative objects can be sent from end users to distributors, and/or clearinghouses (col. 142, lines 35-40). Furthermore, Ginter discloses user A which establishes an account with distributor A. User A receives content usage control information from distributor A to access the creator's A content. Creator A establishes a meter method that will generate an audit record if a user accesses creator's A content. Distributor A uses such a meter method in a control method associated with opening the creator's content that invokes one or more billing and and/or budget methods created, modified or referenced in one or more permissions records and/or parameterized by distributor A to reflect a change for monthly usage. Ginter further discloses that if distributor A has specified usage and/or redistribution control information within the boundaries permitted by the creator, a new set of control information my be associated with the creator's content when control information associated with distributor A are delivered to users and/or user/distributors. (Col. 329, lines 11-45)

Such may pass through a single chain of handling such as encrypted packets of audit information; audit information contains administrative objects, which comprises events describing financial transactions between the creator of an administrative object, the recipient, such as a purchase order or an invoice; administrative objects can be sent from end users to distributors, and/or clearinghouses; a meter method in a control method associated with opening the creator's content that invokes one or more billing and and/or budget methods created, modified or referenced in one or more permissions records and/or parameterized by distributor A to reflect a change for monthly usage; that if distributor A has specified usage and/or redistribution control information within the boundaries permitted by the creator, a new set of control information my be associated with the creator's content when control information associated with distributor A are delivered to users and/or user/distributors are considered "sending an issue log to a service provider when a content is distributed by one user to another user device" and "account for transfers made between user devices".

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
